

Shanghai office, Mainland China

Technical Manager

responsibility

- Responsible for strategy and plans of tech development;
- Take charge of tech action plan/proposal for consulting, remediation and restoration project, and key decision making on tech part;
- Organize to draft all regulations and implementation details for tech center;
- Responsible for preparation of all tech document and bidding document, Assisting sales team with marketing and project plans;
- Manage the R&D team, plan the development of technologies and equipment, as well as implementation and evaluation task;
- Study the key issue of tech related topics, and make comprehensive investigation, introduction and implementation for advanced tech worldwide as well as equipment.

requirement

- Master degree or above in environmental engineering/science, geology/hydrogeology, ecology or related field, with medium grade or above of professional title, preference on talents with overseas background;
- 8+ years of working experience and 5+ years of tech management experience, possessing strong team management ability and excellent coordination/communication capacity;
- Rich experience of tech support and management for a number of international and domestic remediation projects, mastering most widely used tech application and implementation;
- Familiarity with advanced remediation tech and the trend of the world, with keen insight of tech development and innovation, and ability to implement correct R&D plan based on the strategy of company;
- Strong practical experience and ability and expertise on design of variety of remediation tech as well as ability to solve problem onsite;
- Good working ethics and adaptive to business travel.

contact

Interested party may send us your resume to chris-xd.chen@suez.com.